Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie Plans to Host Conference On Oct. 23 and 24

August 22, 2023 (LINCOLN, NE) - After breaking attendance records in 2022 and welcoming attendees from across the world, Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie announces that the conference will be back in Omaha for 2023 on Oct. 23 and 24. The day-long conference will be held at Omaha's Holland Performing Arts Center. On the evening of Oct. 23, Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie will host a networking event at the KANEKO art gallery in Omaha's historic Old Market.

Bringing industry, innovators, start-ups, leaders, regulators, and others together for a one-of-a-kind conference. Last year, Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie welcomed international attendees from the U.K., Ireland, Canada, Israel, and Saudi Arabia.

In addition to the time for collaboration and networking, industry members will also be eligible to receive continuing education for attending the full day. Continuing education hours come from the Nebraska Bar Association, the Nebraska Department of Insurance (producers & agents), and the Society of Financial Examiners. With a schedule packed full of panels, expert speakers, and regulators from across the nation, Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie will focus on topics including harnessing innovation, generative AI, new markets, regulatory considerations, start-ups, insurtech innovation, and more.

DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE

Governor Jim Pillen

"Nebraska has been a hub for the insurance sector for a very long time; helping to foster innovation in the sector seems natural," Nebraska Department of Insurance Director Eric Dunning said. "So, this year's Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie conference, we all want to foster innovation with continuing education and the collaboration of the present and future."

"Nebraska is the home of one of the largest and most vibrant insurance industries in the United States," Nebraska Insurance Federation Executive Director Robert Bell said. "With emerging technologies driving innovation in the insurance industry, Nebraska is the perfect location for Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie. The Nebraska Insurance Federation is excited to co-host the event."

Insurtech on the Silicon Prairie is an annual event co-hosted by the Nebraska Department of Insurance and the Nebraska Insurance Federation to foster a better understanding of the rapidly changing world of insurtech. As one of the leading insurance hubs in the United States and the world, Nebraska is home to approximately 110 domestic insurers with nearly $1 trillion in total assets. The Nebraska domestic insurance industry is a national leader in most financial categories including the aforementioned assets, written premiums, and leads the nation in total capital and surplus.
