National Ranking

The work of the Department of Insurance impacts every business, family and household in the State of Nebraska. Nebraska's 113 domestic insurers rank second nationally in total capital and surplus. These insurers represent more than $680 billion in total assets, ranking Nebraska fourth nationally in terms of oversight responsibility.

During the past several years, we have seen a dramatic expansion of insurance-related firms in our state. While Nebraska is a business-friendly state, proper oversight and regulation are important. Ensuring financial oversight and compliance of insurance companies and licensed operators is the main responsibility of the Department of Insurance, which regulates more than 1,600 insurance companies and operations licensed to do business in Nebraska.

Regulatory Responsibilities

The department's regulatory responsibilities range from licensing to performing financial and market examinations of insurance companies, reviewing the rates and forms associated with auto, property and liability insurance policies, as well as health, life and annuities, investigating rating and claims practices, processing and maintaining license records on insurance producers and agencies, responding to consumer complaints and investigating suspected insurance fraud. Health insurance external review requests are also administered and assigned through the health policy division. Of the 252 request cases being forwarded to independent review organizations, 80 were resolved in favor of the requestor.

Consumer Affairs

The department's consumer affairs division educates insurance consumers and assists them with questions or concerns relating to insurance. In 2019, the division assisted 1,371 individuals, resulting in favorable outcomes totaling $2,707,492. Additional educational assistance was offered through 17 consumer alerts, and informational brochures covering various types of insurance were posted to the Department's website. The most recent generated report for the Life Insurance Policy Locator Service shows use of the consumer tool resulted in Nebraskans finding 475 matches for lost or misplaced life insurance policies or annuities. The total claim amount since the launch of the free service in 2016 is $6,608,839.

Insurance Fraud

Insurance fraud is the second largest economic crime in America, exceeded only by tax evasion. Insurance fraud impacts premium rates and the prices consumers pay for goods and services. The department's insurance fraud prevention division plays an important role in investigating suspected fraud. During 2019, the division received 783 case referrals. Actual or potential monetary losses, exceeding $13.4 million, were reported. The division also works with insurance companies and law enforcement to provide education on potential indicators of insurance fraud.

Senior Health Insurance Information Program (SHIIP)

The department also oversees Nebraska's Senior Health Insurance Information Program (SHIIP), which is a federal program of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. SHIIP provides information and counseling to older Nebraskans regarding Medicare, Medicaid and health insurance. The program also makes trained volunteers available during open enrollment for Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Plans. Each year, countless hours are spent by trained volunteers assisting clients across Nebraska with questions on the enrollment process. During the 2019 grant year, 312 SHIIP volunteer counselors recorded more than 34,510 contacts with individuals, resulting in estimated savings to Medicare enrollees exceeding $22,792,016.
